

the Atlantic

FEATURES

42... How a New Jobless Era Will Transform America

Increasing depression, dissolving marriages, collapsing expectations: why the Great Recession will cut deeper—and endure longer—than you think

BY DON PECK

58... Cyber Warriors

The biggest threat we face from China—and other rivals—isn't a military one. Inside the battle to protect our online infrastructure from hackers, spammers, spies, and corporate thieves.

BY JAMES FALLOWS

64... Management Secrets of the Grateful Dead

Why business professors, ethnomusicologists, sociologists, and (of all things) management theorists are suddenly taking the Grateful Dead very seriously

BY JOSHUA GREEN

68... Death Becomes Him

Profile: Ludwig Minelli has helped more than 1,000 people kill themselves and turned Zurich into the world capital of "suicide tourism." He says he's securing a basic human right. Others claim he's a monster—and a crook.

BY BRUCE FALCONER

